

Workshop on New individual and collective leaderships for a world in transition Tarragona, 20-21 November 2017

MARILYN HAMILTON AND
GEORGE PÓR

New leaderships for what and how

We live in times of accelerated change and increasing complexity that challenge us to develop new individual and collective abilities if we want to become real builders of a better future for a thriving, sustainable and harmonious world.

We are in a transition that urgently needs evolved leaderships based on new ways of being, thinking and acting together to realize all our potential.

The good news are that we can develop such leadership capacities if we learn:

- What are the principles and essential practices to lead complex systems?
- How can we develop the ability and wisdom to navigate in uncertain times?
- What is needed to activate the collective leadership of a community/org.?
- Which methodologies allow us to co-create together the future we want?
- How can we inspire and model change from our experience and example?

Who is it for?

This Workshop is aimed at all people who have, or want to have, evolved leadership roles in organizations and communities of all kinds: social, business, public, academic or third sector. It's for those that want to make a difference.

Contents

- Maps and essential tools to move on complex systems.
- The 12 intelligences of a living system (QOL Map).
- Wise leadership for emerging organizations.
- Becoming a catalyst of potential, connections and welfare.
- Biomimetics and fractals as inspiration for designing living solutions.
- Collective intelligence and co-creation of a community of agents of change.
- Self-organization, wholeness and evolutionary purpose as transformational principles.

Benefits and learnings

- Obtain a new vision on the challenges and personal and social opportunities surrounding emerging leadership.
- Expand the capacity for a deep reflection on complex subjects.
- Develop greater confidence, clarity and impact on our leadership.
- Improve the ability to listen, intimacy and connection with others.
- Practice specific tools and techniques to apply to our organizational context.
- Connect and establish links with other participants that have the same interests and challenges.
